As you'd expect from Cakewalk, Windows integration is as strong as ever and the new DAW will support recent Windows advancements including pen, touch and Surface Dial throughout the user interface.. We also recommend you check the files before installation The contents of the download are original and were not modified in any way.. This makes sense of comments by BandLab Technologies CEO Meng Ru Kuok who had previously stated that current Sonar users 'will not need to spend any money to cross-over/cross-grade to the future flagship product.. BandLab Technologies CEO Meng Ru Kuok describes an "aggressive feature development roadmap ahead" for Cakewalk by BandLab and this new version already sports some previously unreleased features such as integration with BandLab Assistant (which replaces Sonar's Command Centre) for dragging and dropping loop content to Cakewalk from Assistant.. However, users who previously bought these products as part of a Sonar Platinum bundle will continue to be able to use them in the new DAW, as will those who have independent licences.. Then, three months later, BandLab Technologies announced they would be bringing it back, having acquired the DAW-maker's intellectual property..
